Improving the About Page of the Nascoliosis website

https://nascoliosis.co.za/about

I'd restructure it roughly like this:

1. Hero: a one-sentence purpose ("We support people living with scoliosis in South Africa through awareness, encouragement, and funding for urgent care"), a photo of Nashley and Nadia, and a Donate button.
2. What we do: the gift bags, awareness campaigns, and fundraising, with numbers and real photos.
3. Mission and vision: rewritten, with a real vision (what the world looks like if they succeed) separate from the methods.
4. Our story: cut to 300–400 words and keep the most vivid moments (the jazz costumes, the "here come the twins" hospital staff). Move the rest to a blog or News page.
5. Impact and proof: survey results with numbers, event photos, and testimonials (with consent).
6. Get involved: donate, volunteer, partner, subscribe.
7. Transparency: registration numbers, 18A status if applicable, and who's on the board.